STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Entry 56 of the Union List in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution enables Parliament to make laws providing for the regulation and development of inter-State rivers and river valleys to the extent to which such regulation and development under the control of the Union is declared by Parliament by law to be expedient in the public interest. A number of inter-State rivers and river valleys have been the subject matter of prolonged disputes between the States concerned and thus the sustained development and proper utilisation of inter-State rivers and river valleys has been impeded. In turn it has caused a great loss to the overall economy of the country. In order that regulation and development of such rivers and valleys is properly done in the interest of the country at large, it is necessary that the matter should be entrusted to a single autonomous Central authority consisting of experts in their respective fields, with adequate powers and resources.

The present Bill seeks to achieve that objective.

R. P. ULAGANAMBI.

New Delhi; The 31st October, 1972.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clauses 4 and 5 of the Bill provide for establishment of a River Corporation with a membership, excluding the Chairman, equivalent to the number of States in the Indian Union. The Corporation is envisaged to be a permanent body. It is also envisaged that the Corporation should have its own staff, both technical and non-technical, to execute the schemes which it might prepare for the regulation and development of inter-State rivers and river valleys.

At this stage it is not possible to make any true assessment of the expenditure involved. However, a recurring expenditure of about rupees 50 lakhs is likely to be involved from the Consolidated Fund of India. A non-recurring expenditure of about rupees 10 lakhs will also be involved. It is provided in clause 15 of the Bill that whatever sum the Central Government pays to the River Corporation shall be paid after due appropriation made by Parliament by law.

MEMORANDUM ON DELEGATED LEGISLATION

Clause 25 seeks to authorise the Central Government to make rules to carry out the provisions of the Act. Clause 26 authorises the River Corporation to make regulations to regulate the procedural matters specified therein. The delegation of these powers is of normal character.
